

Buy One, Review It, Get One Free – for the first 20 reviewers.

The Request: I would deeply appreciate your purchasing my new book (June 2020), Enough with the...Talking Points: Doing More Good than Harm in Conversation, and posting a legitimate review* on Amazon (and anywhere else you can post a review, via social media, local newspapers, etc.) with your permission for me to use your review elsewhere. You can review the paperback or the Kindle edition.

Legitimate means beyond “It’s great!” or “It sucks!”, includes complete sentences and correct spelling, grammar and syntax, along with your real name. Thanks for your indulgence.

The Offer: If you post your review on Amazon (the book is short, really), I will send a copy of the book, to one person of your choice, (maybe someone who will read and the review the book as well, but that’s not required). You can also have the gift copy sent to yourself.

About the Book: The book emerged through 16 blog posts I wrote from January through May 2019, in response to our increasingly evident and severe inability to engage in authentic, civil conversation, especially in disagreement.

I began work on the book in late summer 2019 and was working on the final draft in early 2020 when COVID-19 emerged. The book went to production in mid-May when the global cases were approaching 5 million, and global deaths were just over 300,000. George Floyd’s murder and the global response to it occurred after the book was in production. See Killing America (poetry, 2018) for some of my views on violence in the United States.

The Fine(er) Print: If you’d like to take me up on this offer, please let me know by email (also in footer below) and then follow these guidelines:

1. Purchase the book on Amazon (Paper: $16.00 | Kindle: $7.00), read it (please!) and review* it.
2. Once you post your review on Amazon, please send a copy of the review to me via email, along with your byline (which I’ll use if I post your review elsewhere) and the name and mailing address of the person to whom you’d like me to send a book. I will order the gifted book within 24 hours of receiving your email. The book will be shipped directly from the publisher, and not from me – so I will not have signed it (virtually everything on the planet does not have my signature, and still has great value!).
3. For a variety of technological, financial and logistical reasons, I can only send the gifted books to valid mailing addresses in the United States. You, the reviewer, can live anywhere. I regret this limitation, but it’s true for now.
4. Whether you read the paper or Kindle edition, the gift recipient will receive the paperback.
5. This offer is valid for the first 20 reviewers: i.e. I will send gifts to the recipients named by the first 20 folks who post reviews on Amazon and forward a copy to me. I will be forever grateful for additional reviews, but the offer ends with 20 gifts (links to current tally).
6. Shoot me an email if you have questions not addressed above.
7. Thanks very much for considering participation in this request and offer.
8. P.S. Check out what Kent Frazier and I are up to at <http://fullyhumanatwork.com>.
